PRESIDENTS MESSAGE—Janet Mitchell

Thank you Heidi for the wonderful project to welcome summer in! Heidi is so much fun to paint with. We had a guest, Diane Barnhart-McKinney –Welcome. Dorothy Patton has started a new feature to our meetings with a “Meet A Member” It’s a great way to get know our members and learn a little something about them. Thank you Beth Murena for being our first candidate.

I wanted to say a HUGE thank You to Pat DeLaPena and her helpers –Theresa Blanchard, DeDe Deschenes, Jane Haggard and Judy Mountjoy for working at Topaz School sharing the joy of painting with the students.

I consider Memorial Day to be the start of summer and the down hill slide for the year. We still have a lot of things coming up – SDP convention will be here in 2 weeks and then the Gypsy Annual Sleep-Over and then our own Lynn Andrews seminar (don’t forget to sign up –it will be a great seminar). Becky and Rosanne are working on the Holiday Boutique and then before you know it we will have election time for DQT so think about running for a position or committee, “ask not what the chapter can do for me, but what I can do for the chapter”.....

Do you use Glazing Medium? by Cheryl Poulin

Decorative painters use glazing medium for use with acrylic paints for many purposes. The glazing medium remains open longer than acrylic paints on their own. That allows you to pull off some cool techniques. By open, I mean it slows down the drying process. I'm sure you already knew that. I won't get into all of the techniques right now but they include:

- Wood Graining
- Marbling
- Trompe L'Oeil
- Additive Techniques
- Subtractive Techniques
- Glazing

Acrylic painters use a glazing medium in the same way that oil painters might use linseed oil or turpentine. It helps to thin the paint. It allows you to isolate and preserve paint layers. And it gives you much better results for doing wet-in-wet blending.

If I'm doing straight pin stripes, I'll use tape to ensure I paint a perfect line. Unfortunately, sometimes, paint will seep under the tape, which is so frustrating. But I have a solution.

I like to use glazing medium to create a transparent barrier film between the edge of masking tape and my painted surface.

How do I do that? After burnishing the tape edges down with the back of a spoon, I apply a thin coat of the glazing medium over the edges of the tape. So now effectively, if there was going to be any "bleeding" under the tape, it's the clear medium that has bled and filled in that tiny pocket.

Once dry, I can paint knowing the lines will be perfect every time! Try it yourself!

And here's another little tip...

If you're doing a pen and ink drawing using a permanent pen, sometimes when you apply your finishing varnish, it smears the ink. Ughhh! All of the work gone! Don't you just hate that?

Well I have a solution for that as well. Yes, you guessed it... glazing medium to the rescue! First you can brush on a coat of glazing medium over your drawing without worry of smearing the ink. Then you can apply your varnish over the glazing medium.

HOLIDAY BOUTIQUE

Did you know you can also sell other items at the boutique besides painted ones? We are happy to make money on any crafted items-so if you sew, carve, make jewelry, well, you get the idea you can include it on your table. It just has to be hand crafted. We love to share our painting items but we all do lots of things. We would love to have you all join us this year and have a table or two. You can also rent a half table to share with someone. It's fun, you make a little money and get to know each other. So think about it-all levels of painting are welcome. You just have to finish the back (paint or stain is fine).

Where-The Community Church at Jess Ranch, 11537 Apple Valley Rd., A.V.

When-Fri., Oct. 21, 9-4 & Sat., Oct. 22, 9-3. Set-Up Thurs., Oct. 20, 4-7
